SKILLFUL WITH THE RIFLE

Propitious Opening of the Western Shooting League's Biennial Festival.

Marksmen from Many Cities Gather to Enter the Contests for Prizes, of Which There Is a Valuable Collection.

The five days' festival of the Western Shooting League began yesterday, opening with an attendance of riflemen that gives assurance that this will be one of the most notable and successful gatherings the league has ever had. Yesterday morning and the night before a considerable number of riflemen from distant points had arrived, among whom were club delegations from Chicago, St. Louis, Milwaukee, Joliet, Elgin, Monroe and Sandwich, Ill., and Toledo, O. These were in time to take part in the procession which, at 10 o'clock, formed at Circle Park, and after a slight detour through down-town streets, marched to the Union Station where, at 11 o'clock, a train was taken for the Shooting Park. The procession attracted great attention. It was headed by a company of capped and belted boys, the target monkeys, commanded by the target monkeys, commanded by the target sergeant, in cap and jacket of scarlet, the boys carrying the red flags to be used in waving back from the target pits to the marksmen the result of their long-range attacks on the bull's-eye. Next came the City Band, with Reinhold Miller, long-range attacks on the bull's-eye. Next came the City Band, with Reinhold Miller, himself a crack rifle shot, as leader. This was followed by carriages, in which were the officers of the league, all of this city. Fred Merz, president; Philip Zaph, vice-president; Charles Lauer, treasurer, and Jacob L. Bieler, secretary, the latter succeeding George Reyer, who came to his death the day before by a deplorable accident. It is the custom of the league to select all its officers from the city in which its biennial meeting is held, and among them are A. Wærner and Edward Bretz, them are A. Wærner and Edward Bretz, shooting-masters. Last came the members, carrying the flags of the league, with their favorite rifles upon their stalwart shoulders. The Indianapolis riflemen turned out fairly well, but not as strong as they might have done, for the local league numbers one hundred and eighty members. In it, as in the association generally, nearly the members are Germans, with and there as an exception an American, Swiss, Englishman or Frenchman. The Indianapolis League has, perhaps, a larger number of Americanborn members than any in the association. There will be no riflemen from any State south of Missouri, as shooting leagues of this character are almost unknown in the

On arriving at the Shooting Park the band struck up a lively march, and the procession passed through a wide gateway, spanned by an arch bearing the hospitable word, "Willkommen" [welcome], and entered the beautiful park. Here are thirtyone acres of the choicest woodland, kept in most admirable order, with just enough of the trees cut away to leave a clear rifle-range and to let the sunlight in here and there upon the dancing-hall, bowlingalleys, pavilions and other build-ings, all of which have been erected especially for the purpose of entertaining such assemblies as that gathering there this week and for the meetings of the local league. The investment in these grounds and buildings is $33,000, and there is not one cent of debt upon any of it. It is much nearer the city than most persons suppose, being but a little distance beyond Fall creek, going by the way of Indiana avenue, with a turn to the north. It is little more than two miles from the Circle and is on a direct line one mile west Circle and is on a direct line one mile west of the Exposition building.
On arrival at the park President Merz made a short speech in German welcoming the sharp-shooters, after which President the sharp-shooters, after which President Kneff, of the Chicago association, presented the league flag, which will remain for two years in this city, to be taken to the next festival two years hence, (probably to St. Louis) and there delivered to another set of custodians. The league is very proud of this flag, which is indeed a handsome banner, worth $400, and was in 1876 presented to the league by the ladies of Chicago. The workmanship upon it is very fine and it was fashioned by cunning needlewomen in Leipzig, Germany. An anvil which had been fired as the procession entered the park, thundered again as this banner was unfurled and placed upon the club-house. All the flags upon the secretary. After the speech by Mr.

Kneff, President Merz spoke again briefly, making a feeling allusion to the sad death of Mr. Reyer, which had been touched upon by Mr. Kneff.

The riflemen then adjourned for dinner, to which they did ample justice, their appetites having been sharpened by the march to which they did ample justice, their appetites having been sharpened by the march and ride. The pavilion in which the prizes are kept attracts great attention. The prizes are carefully guarded, night and day, and well they may be, for not only are there many hundreds of dollars in valuable articles of various kinds, and easily portable, such as watches, gold badges and silver cups, but there are also bank notes and gold coin displayed in most attractive and picturesque arrangement. Among these cash prizes are those offered by the Indianapolis Target Association. $150; C. F. Schmidt, $150; Peter Lieber & Co., $100; C. Maus, $100; Chicago Bund, $50; another Chicago prize, $25; Davenport Shooting Association, $50; St. Louis, $40; Joliet, $50; South St. Louis, $40; Peru. Ill., $30; Dubuque, $55; Belleville, Ill., $10. There are one hundred silver goblets, 125 prize gold badges, $540 in cash from the active shooters of Indianapolis and between $3,500 and $4,000 from the members of the Western League to be distributed in prizes. There are other prizes of various kinds, making a total of nearly $12,000 to be distributed among those who will shoot during the five days' festival. The Kænig," or king of the festival, is valued at $50, and is for that rifleman who makes the highest score in ten shots on the king target. Besides this medal, he will get $25 in cash. The king target is ringed, the rings, twenty-five in number, beginning with a center five-eighths of an inch in diameter, and each ring being five-eighths of an inch wide. The center is numbered twenty-five, and the rings are numbered from that in succession down to one for the outside ring. One needs but to look at this target to see the nice work it demands to have even the faintest hope of getting a prize. Yet there are a goodly number of marksmen in this gathering who will make more than one hole in the center of the target, and the competition will be lively and exciting.

President Merz has done some wonderful shooting, and looks sufficiently earnest to and ride. The pavilion in which the prizes exciting.

President Merz has done some wonderful shooting, and looks sufficiently earnest to do some more. In 1883 he made 283 centers on an ordinary range target, at 625 feet, in one day. He has also made, in three successive shots, seventy-three out of a possible seventy-five, inside of a five-eighths of an inch center, at a range of 625 feet—the best score ever made at any shooting festival in this country. Among the other fine shots are Emil Berg, of Davenport; Dr. Merckle and Martin Grau, of Chicago, and Louis Schring, of Joliet. Mr. Hayes and Mr. Delahunty, of Newark, N. J., two of the best shots in the United States, are expected to arrive to-day. In shooting at Wimbledon, England, Hayes has three times been declared the champion of the world. He was here four years ago, and when he comes again will meet with an enthusiastic reception.

By 2 o'clock all of the thirty-two regular targets were being soundly peppered, the rattle of the discharge sounding, as a veteran put it, like the work of an advancing regiment. But a regiment of marksmen as regiment. But a regiment of marksmen as good as those who were engaged yesterday, if they could fire as steadily at men in uniform as they did at the distant targets, would be the deadliest aggregation ever but upon a bettle-field. With all the thirty-two shooting stations full and men waiting, enough to average eight riflemen Matthews will be here to-day. put upon a battle-field. With all the thirty-two shooting stations full and men waiting, enough to average eight riflemen to the target, no less than 256 shooters were engaged, and about $1,500 was taken in the first day. Fifteen centers entitles the shooter to a gold badge, and the first man to achieve that distinction yesterday was Carl Ruprecht, of St. Louis. He was not long alone in this proud distinction, for in quick succession there came to share with him in the honor of making fifteen "centers" Martin Grau, Chicago; H.

It requires thirty-five "centers" to win a silver goblet, and the following were successful in shooting for such a prize: H. F. Piepenbrink, Joliet; Ed Bergen, Davenport; Joseph Braun, L. F. Zehring, Joliet; S. Meunier, Milwaukee; G. Ruppreuter, St. Louis. This center is a four-inch white bull's-eye in a black field twelve inches in wind that blew most of the afternoon interfered somewhat with the accuracy of the marksmanship. Nice calculation was required as the force of the wind would, it was estimated, cause a deflection of nearly a foot in the directness of the bullet in going through the six-hundred-and-twenty-five feet of space between the muzzle of the gun and the target. About half the long shooting shed had lying before it a thrifty patch of potatoes, and doubtless the hurtling lead that went screaming over them was enough to make their eyes start from their sockets.

The gold badge given to those who make fifteen bull's-eyes is a very neat decoration, showing a ringed target on a pair of crossed rifles, and bears the inscription, "Sixth Festival, Western Shooting League, Indianapolis, 1889." There were 11,148 shots fired yesterday, of which 840 were "centers," and shortly after 6 o'clock the smokestained, gunpowder-flavored sharp-shooters took their rifles, wrapped them carefully in fine woolen and placed them in their leathern cases, putting them away as tenleathern cases, putting them away as ten-derly as a young mother lays her sleeping infant in its cradle.

LIQUOR ORDINANCE PASSED.

An Incident Caused by a Clerk's Suspicions Concerning an Alderman's Intentions.

If the courts sustain the opinion of the city attorney that the saloon-keepers who procured licenses before the passage of the ordinance raising the city fee to $250 must pay the full amount for the unexpired part of the year to run, the Board of Aldermen saved the city several thousand dollars by holding a special meeting last evening. As on the previous evening, the Democratic members of the body, with the exception of Alderman Laut, absented themselves from the meeting. That gentleman would not have been present had he not had a misunderstanding with the deputies in the city clerk's office during the afternoon. He called there and asked to be permitted to take the license ordinance away for ten minutes. He was given the ordinance, and when he did not return with it in three-quarters of an hour, Michael Toomey, clerk of the Board of Aldermen, became excited, and asked City Prosecutor Wright to draw up a warrant for Alderman Laut's arrest. While that was being done the alderman returned with the document in good shape, as a careful comparison with the original showed.

As soon as the board was called to order Alderman Laut recited the facts of his treatment by the deputy clerk, and said he felt very much hurt over being charged with attempting to steal an ordinance. It was the first the Republican members had heard of the difficulty, and each of them expressed themselves as having the utmost confidence in the alderman's integrity. They were surprised that he should have been accused of attempting to mutilate or carry away the ordinance. Clerk Toomey was called on for an explanation, and he stated that he regarded the ordinance as a political measure, and that when the alderman, a Democrat, kept it out of the office an hour, when he had promised to return it in ten minutes, he became alarmed lest the document should be changed or lost in some way. President Wright, in a short talk, said he regretted the misunderstanding, because he realized that every Republican member of the board had entire confidence in Mr. Laut. The alderman seemed satisfied with the explanation, and the matter was dropped.

The ordinance was then taken up, read a second and third time and passed by a vote of 8 to 1, all the Republican members supporting it. Mr. Laut opposing it. The ordinance will be in force after it has been published for two weeks. Its enforcement will, of course, be resisted by the saloon-keepers, who will seek to prove in court that the law authorizing it is invalid. It is the purpose of the city attorney, as soon as the ordinance goes into effect, to bring suit against one of the saloon-keepers who has procured license during this term of the Commissioners' Court, to ascertain whether or not the full fee can be collected for the unexpired part of the year yet to run.

NOTABLE WEDDINGS. The Knippenberg-Maxwell Marriage a Brilliant Social Event. One of the handsomest weddings that has occurred here for some time, was that of Miss Mary Maxwell, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Maxwell, and Mr. Wm. Knippenberg, of Glendale, M. T., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Knippenberg. Long before the hour for the ceremony the First Baptist Church was filled with the many friends of both families, expectantly waiting the coming of the bride and groom. The ushers were Dr. D. L. Thompson, Mr. Will Clifford, Mr. Geo. Swing, Mr. John Clarke, Mr. John Maxwell, Mr. Bert Adams, Mr. Charles Clarke and Mr. James Lilly. The church was elaborately decorated. The platform was a receding bank of palms and ferns, completely hiding the organ. At the head of the aisles were broad arches of smilax over a lattice gate of the same. Suspended from the north arch was "M," from the south "K" in white roses and carnations. Just in front of the platform was a third arch, and from this hung the was a third arch, and from this hung the marriage bell, composed of smilax, white and yellow roses, while the clapper was of white flowers, the whole effect being beautiful in the extreme. Preceding the ushers were pages Masters Willie Swing and Charles Jacobs in continental costumes, who opened the gates. The ushers in couples walked up the two aisles. Then, on the left, came the maid of honor, Miss Whitridge, opposite, the best man, on the Whitridge, opposite, the best man, on the right, Dr. E. H. Moffett. Fellowing the maid was one bridesmaid, Miss Fannie Taylor, and then came the bride and her father. After the groomsman was a second bridesmaid, Miss Mary Knippenberg, the groom's sister, and then followed the groom with his mother. These formed about the arch, and the imposing ceremony was performed by Rev. Henry Day, assisted by Rev. H. W. Taylor, the new pastor of the church. Rev. Mr. Day married the groom's parents in the same church.

The arrangements at the church were very elaborate, and were carried out with the best possible taste, being something entire-ly new in the list of church weddings. The bride wore a beautiful gown of pearl white faille français, made en train. The decollete corsage was bordered with fine duchesse lace and she carried a bouquet of roses. A delicate tulle veil enveloped her entire figure. Miss Whitridge wore a costume of white faille draped with white Brussels net and a garniture of wild roses. Miss Mary Knippenberg's dress was of white crepe, with trimmings of wreaths of for-get-me-nots. Miss Taylor's dress was of white moire and net and its trimming was of French oats. All the costumes were beautiful and very becoming to the pretty young women who wore them. A large reception was held at the family residence, No. 860 North Meridian street, immediately after the service at the church. Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell were assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Knippenberg, the groom's parents, who came from Montana to attend the wedding, and the bridal party. The house was hand-somely decorated with flowers, and some two hundred guests tendered their congratulations and best wishes. The gifts were numerous and valuable. The groom's present to his bride was a watch set with diamonds; to the brides-maids set with diamonds; to the brides-maids he gave a beautiful gauze and lace fan and a small diamond ring, and to each groomsman a scarf pin, a blue enameled clover leaf, with a diamond cluster, and to the pages and bell-ringer each a ring. The wedding favors were silk hem-stitched handkerchiefs, with the monogram in one corner. Each, tied with a white ribbon by the four corners, held a piece of the wedding cake. Mr. and Mrs. Knippenberg left at 11 o'clock for Chicago and the Northwest to spend a few days in several cities before going to their own new home in Glendale, M. T. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kaippenberg and daughter will leave on Saturday to join them at St. Paul and go with them West. BARKALOW-HERETH.

A very pretty wedding took place last evening, at 8 o'clock, at the Seventh-street M. E. Church, at which Miss Hessie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hereth, became Mrs. John W. Barkalow. The church was filled with friends of both, and Messrs. Will Kershner, Frank Wood, Frank Browning and Charles Bur-ger were the ushers. The impressive cereemony was pronounced by Rev. S. F.
Tincher, pastor of the church. The bride wore a beautiful costume of cream-white lansdown, daintily fashioned, and carried a large bouquet of white roses. After the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Barkslow went to their own home, No. 513 Parke avenue, where they received their friends, from 8:30 till 11 o'clock. The house was tastefully decorated with flowers, and congratulations and good wishes were heartily extended by many friends.

BEEM-CLAPP. A very pleasant home wedding occurred last evening at the residence of Mrs. Thos. H. Clapp, on West Walnut street, the bride Mr. Seth P. Beem. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Oscar McCulloch, in presence of the relatives and a few intimate friends. Miss Clapp has been a favorite teacher in our public schools, and has always drawn around her a choice circle of companions, many of whom remembered her with gifts and expressions of affection. The house was very prettily decorated with flowers, and favors to the guests were boxes of wedding cake, tied with ribbons. Immediately after an informal reception, Mr. and Mrs. Beem left for their home at the corner of Mississippi and North streets, which was completely fitted and furnished for their occupancy, and where they will be at home to their friends after this week. being Miss Alice Clapp, only daughter, and

The marriage of Miss Annie Abbev. youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Snyder, and Mr. John Gibney was quietly celebrated yesterday morning, at 10 o'clock, at the family residence, No. 127 West St. Clair street. Rev. Joseph S. Jenckes, rector of St. Paul's Church, performed the ceremony in the presence of only the immediate families and a very few friends. After congratulations had been extended the newly-married couple left for a short trip.

The popular bracelet is a bangle, and the popular girl wears about twent on the same arm; each presented to her by some admirer. The most elegant bangles are those set across the top with a row of tiny diamonds, rubies, pearls or sapphires. Only three of these jeweled bangles are worn, one of diamonds, with a ruby and sapphire on either side. One would be as much as an admirer would want to buy, particlarly if the diamond was of good size.

Now come the very best French Satines to go at only 25c. They are as good as ever have sold

In Handkerchiefs we offer the best variety ever shown in the city. From fine hand-embroidered goods at $3 each, down to machine embroideries at a nickel. We have every kind, style, quality, size or color.

We have added one line of Men's Umbrellas at $1.50 each. They are made with paragon frames, have covers that are fast color, and will not split or fade. We fully warrant every one

In Corsets we have several lines of samples. They may be had at one-third less than usual prices. They are in perfect condition.

We continue to sell all kinds of Parasola at half price. These are goods that we bought at forced sale. An opportunity like this seldom ocra bargains in every department, to close
